TURF TOPICS.

Very little galloping was done this morning, and what there was was done on the outside course which was still soft, making the going a trifle heavy. The hurdles were up. Sunday morning, it is reported, will be the last great day when almost all the ponies will be given their final gallops before the Races. Jubilee Rose, this morning, did a useful performance over a mile in 2.17, last quarter 31. Stathdallas was given two quarter splits, the first taking about 32 seconds and the second was "clocked" by some as being under 30. . The times taken this morning are as

Maryland, half mile, 30-2/5, 1.04. Celia Rose, one mile and a half, 34-3/5, 1.09, 1.45, 2.21-1/5, 2.64-4/5, 3.28-2/5. Jubilee Rose, one mile, 37, 1.12, 1.46, Bohemian Chief, one mile and a quarter, 41-2/5, 1.20, 2.01, 2.40, 3 13-1/5. Gray Back and Chicory, one mile, last . shree quarters, 35, 1.12, 1.49.

"THE GEISHA."

The children of the members of the Club Lusitano are to give another performance of "The Geisha," on Saturday evening, in honour of Vice Admiral Sir Hedworth Lambton and officers of H.M.'s ships in harbour. Once again the booking has been very brisk and a large attendance is assured. We understand that the officers of the Portuguese gunboat Patria will be the guests of Mr J. J. Leiria, Consul General for Portugal and Brazil and Madame Leiria, at their residence "Duart" on Saturday evening when the party will afterwards witness the performance. On Sunday afternoon there will also be a matinée performance.

BRITISH MUSEUM.

The Nation's Bargains.

On the 15th of January the British Museum celebrated is first century and a-half of existence, for, though the Act of Parliament by which the museum was called into being was passed in 1753, it was not until 1759 that the doors of Montague House, which housed the Cottonian Library, the Sloane collection, and the Harleian collection of manuscripts, were opened to the public. The anniversary was marked by no ceremony, but it may not be without interest to recall a few of the stages by which, at a cost of less than two million pounds to the public for the actual collection, the British Museum has attained the premier place among similar institutions. The Act of 1753 permitted the holding of a lottery that was to raise a jundred thousand pounds, and the trustees appointed to administer the revenues rendered the following account of the ninety thousand pounds that were realised :-

To executors of Sir Hans Sloane £20,000 0 0 To the owner of the Har-To the karl of Halifax for Montague House ... for repairs of Montague House

£90,914 2 81 For the year 1908-9 a parliamentary vote of £175,137 was allowed the museum for dependent on the funds invested for the 16th, 17th, 18th, and 20th Instant. cost of administration. During the first fourteen years of its existence only £69 served for Members and Members was spent on the collection; in the period from 1767 to 1806 the cost was £11,036; from 1807 to 1837 £158,190; and from 1837-46 £145,843. Writing in 1894, Sir Edmund Maunde Thompson estimated collections, for administration expenses, and so forth had only averaged about

£11,000 a year. In the early days of the museum the public was admitted with the greatest caution. Only fifteen tickets were to be issued daily. In 1804 this number of possible admissions was increased to 75, but in 1808 the system of tickets was abolished. To NO Children under the age of 14 years accredited students, however, the museum authorities were always more generous The museum, as has been shown, really opened as a library of some 50,000 volumes; by 1821 this number was barely more than doubled, reaching 116,000; in 1838 there were 235,000; in 1858 550,000; and by 1894 there were a million and a quarter. By NO SERVANTS will be allowed 1900 it was computed that there were over | N inside the ENCLOSURE of the two million volumes, and at that date the RACE COURSE during the Race Days shelves covered a length of between thirty the library at various periods is not without interest. In 1810, 1950 visits were paid. This number rapidly increased, until in the 'fifties some stability was attained at a number of about 80,000. The numbers steadily declined, owing to the additional facilities afforded by the multiplication libraries; but since 1880 they have been again increasing, until in 1902 they reached a total of 211,244, rising to 226,323 in 1904, but falling last year, presumably owing to the partial closing of the reading-room to 137,682. The following are some of the most remarkable additions made to the collection of the museum :-

1802.—The Egyptian antiquities from Alexandria. 1805-15.—The Townley marbles. 1816.—The Phigalian marbles. 1816.—The Elgin marbles. 1823-5.—The King's Library.

1826.—The Payne Knight bronzes and 1827. – The Banksian Library and Herbaria. 1841-7.—Syrian manuscripts from th Nitrian monasteries.

1845. -The Lycian sculptures. 1847.—The Grenville Library. 1851-60. - Assyrian antiquities (Layard). 1856-7. -- Mausoleum collection. 1868. - Abyssinian antiquities and manu movement of deep interest to the growers, sellers, and buyers of food-stuffs all over the world has recently marked a further important stage in its development by an international conference in Rome, which was attended by representatives, from forty-eight countries. The Hon. J. W. Taverner, Agent-General for Victoria in London, who represented Australia, has supplied a sketch of the scheme.

1899.—The cinque-cento collection (Baron de Rothschild).

"TO STEADY PRICES."

Movement to Schedule the World's Food Supply.

"The idea of bringing all the nations of the earth together in this peaceful cooperation for the general welfare," he said, was introduced to the King of Italy, two years ago, by Mr D. Lubin, of the United States, who represented America at the A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF CHINESE first International Congress, last May. His Majesty was so favourably impressed with the scheme that he has had quite a palatial building erected on the g ounds of the Villa Borghese, at Rome, which should prove a worthy home for the world-wide operations of the Institute. In addition to defraying the cost of the building King Victor Emanuel has also endowed the Institute with land estimated to yield something like £20,000 per annum. "Nearly all the countries represented at the gathering in Rome last month have appropriated their quotas to support the On. View from Thursday, the 11th Institute, according to the treaty, by which they are bound to support its operations. The various Governments have been supplied with the first specifications and programme of work by Senator Count Eugenio Faina, the president; and as a result of our recent deliberations, we calculate that the full staff of headquarters' officials will be installed at Rome in about three months' time, when a start will be made with the work of the Institute."

· ADVANTAGES TO BE SECURED. "What are the chief advantages likely to be secured by the work of the Institute?" "It will, for one thing, have a steadying influence on prices, and thus do much to prevent the enormous world-wide waste that is now going on in the field of agriculture by reason of the fluctuation of prices, due to the artificial interference with the natural law of supply and demand, which is now constantly being exercised by the publication of unofficial information of a partial character from individual nations. This information is provocative of much uncertainty, not only because of its inexactitude and inevitable prejudice, but because it is tardily published, and unaccompanied by world-summaries.

"The evils occasioned by this condition of things will be mitigated, if not entirely removed, by the dissemination, through the agency of the Institute, of unquestionably reliable information regarding prospective crops, stock on hand, and stock in transit. The Institute will be an international clearing house of information, uniting all the countries of the world. Machinery will be set up for the timely collection from every quarter; and the statistics gathered together will be handled by an efficient organisation, in which each country will be represented by a specialist of its own choosing. To ensure the hest results. moreover, all persons personally interested in the agricultural reports will be excluded from the organisation. A FAR-REACHING LABOUR BUREAU.

"It is further proposed to issue the most reliable information as to where labour is needed, and for what period of time, together with the wages paid in the various districts. The ravages of disease among animals, vegetables, and plants will be checked by the circulation of information concerning the character of the disease. the territory infected, and the progress of the disease, together with a statement as o the effective remedies already employed in the various countries. "Other losses in farming will be prevented by steps to encourage intelligent action regarding co-operation, insurance, and credit. It is obviously quite impossible to enumerate all the advantages that may be looked for from the work of this Insti tute; but I should think it is sufficiently clear that it will do much to foster the spirit of international peace. In any case, the circulation of the official statistics, to which I have referred, will discourage specu-lation in foodstuffs, since false reports will be promptly discounted and all mystery and un certainty removed. Business based upon commission will be more prefitable than speculation, as each transaction will bear its own reasonable profit. It is, moreover, difficult to see how any future attempt to corner any particular foodstuff can possibly succeed, as we shall show from week to week the available supply and its location.

Mr Taverner, in conclusion, referred t the consitution of the Institute as being rather too burcaucratic in character; bu expressed the hope that early modification might be effected in this direction.

While the peculiar unfolding and career of LINCOLN can never be duplicated, from time to time in all nations great men are born of crisis or come fitted to it. THE YAUMATI TRAGEDY.

Inquiry Into a Robber's Death.

At the Magistracy this afternoon there S. Lightfoot, Lt. Liepmann, W. J was a sequel to the Yaumati shooting | Mackenzie. tragedy, when Mr J. H. Kemp, sitting as Coroner, and a jury consisting of Messrs F. Smith, W. J. Crawford, and D. Rumjahn, held an inquiry into the circumstances attending the death of Laing Wong Sing, aged 33 years, who was shot by P. C. Hedge at Yaumati on January 21st.

The Coroner stated that the reason for the delay in holding the inquiry was that some men were at first charged with the murder of Lance Sergt Mills, who was shot on the same occasion. and if that case had been proceeded with the evidence with regard to the shooting Sutherland, J. McEwen, F. Sutton, H. R. of deceased would have come out. But as | Phelips, R. C. Witchell. Reserves:—A. G. the charge had been withdrawn, it was now necessary to hold an inquiry. Mr Kemd stated that the principal point in the inquiry would be the conduct of the constable—whether he was justified in shooting the deceased when he did. That was the whole point. Dr Bell spoke to deceased's admission t the Government Hospital, saying he was body. An operation was performed and the bullet extracted, but the man died the same morning.

Evidence was then given by the keeper of the shop which was entered by the robbers. He said five robbers came into his shop at 10 p.m. on the night of January 21st, armed with revolvers. They tied up kong "B" team in a match against the witness and his three fokis, pointed their Police on Saturday, on the ground of the weapons at them and demanded the keys. Hongkong Club, commencing at 2.15 Witness and the fokis said they had no keys, but the men searched the premises until they found the keys. They then Pearce, A. A. Claxton, H. D. Sharpin opened the safe and took away about A. C. Leith, Lieut J. S. Sill, A. O. Lang, $4,300 in money. When they left, witness, who was tied by his queue, cut his hair, and went after them, calling out "Robbers. The robbers ran off in the direction of the Police Station and as he followed one of the men pointed a revolver at him but it mistired.

A lukong stated that he was walking with others in Reclamation Street when he heard a police whistle blow. He ran back, and saw a detective trying to stop the deceased by holding him by the neck, but deceased shot him through the hand with his revolver. Then deceased made off. Witness went in chase, and as he did so Lance-Sergt Mills came out of the station. At the entrance to Wing Sing Street Lance-Sorgt Mills tried to put his arms around deceased, who, however, turned round and shot the Lance-Sergt. Then Lance-Sergt Mills put his hand to his heart, and walked back to the station. Deceased again made off, and witness shot at him once, after which deceased exclaimed. "Are you still coming?" Deceased then ran into an engine shop, and P. C. Hedge came and went in after him, witness following. Deceased fired a shot, and then P. C. Hedge fired three times. Deceased exclaimed "Come in, come in"; and just afterwards witness went in and saw deceased leaning sgainst the wall. Deceased's revolver was found under the fire-place, and deceased was then taken to the Police Station. In reply to a question, witness said they never lost sight of deceased after he shot Lance-Sergt Mills.

P. C. Hedge deposed to seeing a large crowd making towards him on the night named, several police whistles being blown. He could see that they were chasing one man, and witness thereupon attempt ed to stop him. The latter, however, pointed his revolver at witness and fired, afterwards running into a shop. Witness followed, whereupon the robber again pointed his revolver at witness and fired. hin, F. Bacon, A. Pasco, G. C. Glover, Then witness drew his revolver and fired J. Henning, T. Wilks, R. P. Cartor, J low, thinking this would frighten the man. Gillespie, R. Harding, J. Dalziel. Re-Instead, however, the latter again pointed his revolver at witness, who then shot the feree: Lt. Mullins, deceased. Witness then put his revolver away and made to arrest the man. A fierce struggle ensued, and witness had to use his truncheon before he could effect an arrest. The Coroner said he would ask the jury to consider the question of P. C. Hedge's conduct. The law on the point was that if an officer of justice was resisted in the legal execution of his duty he might repel force by force, and if in so doing he killed the resisting party then it was justifiable homicide. There must, however, be imperative necessity to resi t force by force. But the law went even further in favour of the officer, so that if the person guilty of wounding was endeavouring to make his escape and could not be arrested in any other way the homicide was again justifiable. There seemed to be ample evidence in that case that decessed other men besides P. C. Hedge, He L. J. Blackburn, Referee, S. F. Ricketts. seemed to be a desperate character, and he (the Coroner) thought the jury would have ne difficulty in finding that P. C. Hedge QUEARES Wire or Goo Lives Oil in

THE BIRTH AND DEATH OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

The Life of Abraham Lincoln, whose centenary falls to-day, was written by his devoted Secretaries Nicolay and Hay in ten portly volumes, which embody all the poetry and pathos of the great President's career from his birth in the dismal solitude of Hodgensville, Kentucky, in the ignoran and degraded atmosphere of a western slave state, to the time when, the leader of a mighty nation, he wrote epoch-making proclamations and delivered speeches which as literary compositions will rank with those of Pericles. LADY GYMNAST'S AWKWARD PREDICAMENT.

FALLS VICTIM TO NERVE DEBILITY AND ARAEMIA WHEN FULFILLING AN IMPORTANT PROFESSIONAL ENGAGEMENT.

DR WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS THE WORLD FAMOUS BLOOD AND NERVE TONIC BUILT UP HER NERVES, RESTORED HER HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

AAISS Florrie Florizell, the clever and W popular contortionist and gymnast now on tour in the Far East with Harmston's Circus, is known as the "Flexible Aerial Beauty," and all who have seen her in her novel and sensational performance will admit that the title fits her well. It is of the first importance to an artist dependent so entirely on complete "fitness" of nerve and muscle as Miss Florizell is that at all times her health should be in perfect condition, for failing this she could no longer perform the difficult and dangerous feats on which her living depends. One can imagine then, this lady's horror when she found, some years ago, that her nervous system was giving way, and that her general health was being undermined by that insidious weakening malady "Antemia," or poverty of blood. The fact that she was enabled to continue her work at that trying time, and that she has enjoyed perfect health of body and nerve ever since. Miss Florizell unhesitatingly attributes solely to 10 great restorative strength-sustaining merits of Dr Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

In the course of an interview recently in Batavia, Java, where Harmston's celebrated show was then performing, Miss Florizell gave the following interesting details regarding her case, "It was when touring South Africa with Fillis's Circus some years ago that I first discovered the remarkable powers of Dr Williams' Pink Fills to restore one when Anæmic, Nervous, and rundown," said she. "At this time I was very much afflicted with Nervous Debility and Amemia. I felt a muscular weakness and gradual decrease of strength coming over me; I looked pale and sallow, my appetite fell away.

A lady friend of mine in Fillis's troupe recommended me to try Or Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, she having used them herself with success, and I took her advice. After the second bottle of these Pills my nervousness gradually left me, I could eat well and sleep well, there was a decided improvement in my general health. Since then I have used Dr Wil-Mame' Pink Pills whenever feeling rundown. At present I am in the very best of condition and quite able to fulfil my arduous work as a contortionist and gymnast, and I attribute this happy state of health entirely to the use of Dr Williams' Pink Pills, which in my case are a never-failing restorative." Dr Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the greatest blood and nerve-tonic medicine known to medical science, and they are the proved remedy for Amemia (weak watery blood), Nervous Debility, Malaria, Indigestion, Liver Disorder, Palpitations, Headaches, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Paralysis, Beri-Beri, Pimples, Eczema and Skin complaints, and the after effects of Fevers. Dysentery and Chills. For the ailments which afflict ladies between youth and middle age they are especially efficacious. They are obtainable at most shops where medicines are sold, and also direct from the Dr Williams' Medicine Co., S B Kiukiang Road, Shanghai, at $1.50 Mex. per bottle, or 6 bottles for $8/-Mex.
